

The New York Academy of Art wishes to express its condolences and stands with the Asian-American and Pacific Islander community – especially women and elders – and condemns all violence, harassment, and discrimination against them. As an institution committed to inclusion, diversity, and the free exchange of ideas, such violence and hate are inimical to our mission. AAPI artists have always been integral to the Academy’s creative environment, bringing a breadth of vision and perspective that enriches our institution — and what affects them, affects us all. It is not enough to embrace diversity, we must also actively oppose all hate and discrimination. As an act of solidarity, we will be highlighting the inspiring work of past and present AAPI students on our social media platforms. Just as important, we will continue our work to ensure that the Academy makes space for AAPI artists and provides a forum to amplify their voices and creative visions.

AAPI Resources

Asian American \(APISAA\) Therapist Directory via Asian Mental Health Collective—

Bystander Intervention Training to Stop Ant-Asian/American and Xenophobic Harassment

Creative Capital AAPI Resources & Ways to Support

Digital AAPI resource guide

Fight Asian Hate: Donation & Volunteer Resources

<https://advancingjustice-aajc.org/anti-asian-hate>

<http://www.asianmentalhealth.org/>

<https://www.realtothepeople.com/>

<https://stopaapihate.org/>